

h

Magazine

September 2009

Bob Ecker – Wine Dog

Tapena

Spanish wines have long been considered sultry, dark, brooding, and formidable. Fortunately, that's not entirely true anymore. Spain still produces many heavy, conservative, ultra "serious" wines, but today many wines from Spain are approachable, fun, tasty, and, better yet, affordable...

Tapena offers a first-rate line of wines including a Tempranillo, Garnacha, (Grenache) and Rosé, which are all easy drinking, flavorful, and moderately priced. At approximately $10, this is a price point that can't be beat! Tapena wines taste like they should be twice as expensive.

